Rockcastle County

It's Natural Resources and Great Advantages.

The resources of our county are almost inexhaustable and there is every reason, why one should be prosperous. Instead of our farmers having to import hay, corn, oats, potatoes, etc from other places they should be raising them to sell. Much of our soil is adapted to the raising of cereals while other parts are adapted to the raising of tobacco, vegetables, fruits of various kinds and more especially small fruits. While the people of other states, and even of other sections of this state all making fortunes from strawberries and vineyards from exactly the same kind of soil, we let it grow up in sedge grass and saw briars, or remain uncleared not bringing in an income of perhaps fifty cents per acre. There is no use for this state of affairs, but on the contrary we should have vineyards dotting our farms from one side of the county to the other, adorning our hill sides in the way that can only be done by the rich foliage and clustering bunches of grapes of well kept vineyards, besides filling our coffers with shekels. In our sister county of Pulaski, there is sometimes as much as one hundred dollars cleared on one acre, of strawberries, and why can't we do it? And why not some of our enterprising citizens start a canning factory that our farmers can have a market at home for tomatoes, berries etc? It will undoubtedly pay, who are going to be the lucky men? And we yet have an abundance of timber, while a great deal has been consumed in different ways. We have a goodly number of saw mills, planing mills and stone mills. The water is also plentiful and that of a kind to please the Gods. It quenches the thirst and heals the afflicted. A greater variety of mineral water cannot be found in any other county in the state. The scenery is beyond description, the most skillful artist would lay down his brush and stand amazed at the mighty works of nature. Our mineral resources are rich beyond computation. We have any amount of the finest kind of building stone, quarries which are now being worked. The limestone for lime, ballast, and building purposes is unexcelled, and there is a sufficient quantity of it to last during the remainder of time. The coal fields cover a considerable portion of the eastern part of the county, consisting of both bituminous and candle coal, a great deal of which is already accessible to the rail road, and the principal part of the remainder will be as soon as a new line of road, which is just about ready to begin building up Brush creek, is completed. The Louisville & Nashville rail road already traverses the county from Lincoln county on the one side to Laurel county on the other; the Kentucky Central practically traverses the county from Madison to Laurel and another line has been surveyed through the county from Garrard by way of Brodhead and Level Green to the Pulaski county line. A bank which we have so long been in need of, is soon to be established here, and other improvements are going on, but there room for the investment of thousands of dollars to develop our unlimited resources, and we gladly welcome any and all who desire to come and investigate for themselves. The half has not been told but this will suffice to give some idea of what is in store for us.

News Items.

British losses in South African war up to June 9 are 23,664 men, besides 792 officers, and 12,355 men sent home as invalids.

Gov. Beckham pardoned Pleasant Hardy, of Knox county, who has served five years of a ten year sentence. The pardon was granted on recommendation of the prison physician, who states that Hardy is dying of consumption.

The trial of Millard Philpot, charged with the murder of Felix Davidson at Manchester a few days ago, was begun last Monday in the Clay County Circuit Court. The grand jury returned a true bill against Philpot last Thursday.

James O'Rear, a well known young man of South Chattanooga, eloped with Miss Pansy Hughes, the fifteen-year-old daughter of Chief of Police Hughes, of Somerset. Chief Hughes pursued the couple to Chattanooga, Tenn., but was too late to stop the ceremony. He then wisely gave the pair his blessing. His only objections to the marriage was on account of the girl's youth.

Miss Nellie Muir, society editor of the Lexington Herald, and T. B. Cromwell, a well-known newspaper correspondent, of Lexington, were married and left for New York. Their marriage was a complete surprise to their many friends. It will be remembered that Mr. Cromwell swore out the affidavits upon which Caleb Powers and Davis were arrested.

Among the delegates who went from Owensboro to the Democratic State convention at Louisville last Thursday was Henry G. Overstreet, who until a few months ago was a Republican of prominence, says the Owensboro Messenger. He is one of the foremost citizens of the county, a successful business man and a fine gentleman. He is probably the most intimate friend in this county of W. O. Bradley and John W. Yerkes, but he will go to the polls next November and vote against Yerkes, or any other Republican who may be nominated for Governor. He has quit the Republican party—the Taylor-Deboe brand of Republicanism in this State drove him out of it—and not even the nomination of a dear friend like Yerkes, at the instance of a dear friend like Bradley, can take him back to it. The character of campaign made by and for Taylor last year disgusted Mr. Overstreet. The assassination of Goebel, at the hands of the Republican conspirators at Frankfort, dissolved all connection between Mr. Overstreet and the Republican party of Kentucky.

Telephone Meeting

Kentucky Telephone Association Met at Winchester June 7.

The Kentucky Telephone Association held a meeting in Winchester Thursday June 7 and elected the following officers: David Pruitt of Winchester, president; A. H. Bastin of Lancaster, vice-president; W. W. Longmire of Frankfort, treasurer; James Maret of Mt. Vernon, Secretary; R. V. Bishop, Cynthia, D. I. Pendleton, Winchester and J. M. Baldwin Richmond were elected members of the executive committee. The objects of the association are for the mutual protection and connection of all local telephone exchanges and toll line companies in Kentucky and endeavor to bring about a system of toll line connections with other states the question of connecting all exchanges by metallic circuit, without any phones being placed between, was discussed and endorsed. Arrangements were made to connect the central and northern counties in the state by metallic circuits, and this work will be carried out this year. The lines of the independent companies will be pushed towards Louisville, Cincinnati, Portsmouth, Knoxville and other large cities on or near the borders of the state. Uniform toll rates and metallic circuits on all lines will be insisted upon, and a mutual interchange of business will be made, while the companies will still retain their present status of independence. A Lincoln county man, A. H. Aastin and a Garrard boy, James Maret, who played around Paint Lick depot way back in 69 when the big eclipse occurred were the prime movers in originating this association; the idea which they began working upon as far back as March 1898 when they only had a line from Stanford to Mt. Vernon. It was a hard fight to get other companies to see and understand things as they saw them but after constant and untiring work of more than two years they have perfected an organization that will not only be a benefit to the citizens of the state but will redound to the interests of these two indefatigable workers and far sighted business men. The companies now banded together are the wealthiest and most influential in the state and their combined capital amount to $500,000 and much more is being added to the business daily all of which will tend to improve and extend the independent system in all Kentucky. The United States Telephone Company of Cleveland Ohio, that has thousands of miles of copper metallic circuit line running into the independent exchanges in Ohio, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Indiana are ready and waiting for Kentucky connections, which the association promises shall reach them by next Fall when our people can hello to Cleveland and hundreds of points beyond our state limits over lines owned and controlled by Kentucky capital. The telephone business in this state is in the dawn of a new era; improvement, good service and home enterprise are the watchwords.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

We are authorized to announce the HON. JAMES D. BLACK, of Barbourville,
as a candidate for Governor, subject to any regular action of Democratic party.

A Hoosier friend sends us a clipping which is headed "Fredrick Landis' Letter" in which the writer pays a high tribute to that modest gentleman who resides at Shannondale, Gov. James A. Mount. We give due praise to this soldier and farmer because of his total disregard of Constitutional law, for thus, by disregarding it and protecting the refugees of "Old Kentucky," he casts odium upon his administration and helps the Democrats carry both Indiana and Kentucky. Sooner or later, Taylor and Finley must appear before a bar of justice and meet their accusers and witnesses face to face; they must stand trial before an honest court and an honest jury; they must explain their actions.

Taylor said that it was a bad thing to kill a man; but that it would have to be done. This was just before Goebel was killed. All sensible people know that he meant something in this saying. The militia was ready by his order and had been ready for an hour with ammunition and side arms to meet his emergency's call that the assassins of Gov. Goebel might be protected. They were protected for three days by his order and the mountain hordes of desperadoes, cut-throats, rowdies, intimidators and assassins were brought to Frankfort to do this bloody deed and to commit this damnable "taking off".

The blood of William Goebel is upon the heads and hands of the leaders of the Republican party and they must bear this odium, and Mount will never be able to prevent these refugees from answering these indictments. He may protect them for a while, but his party in Indiana, like Taylor and Finley's in Kentucky, must suffer for his unlawful act. The people of both states want nothing but justice, but they demand that, and when men are charged with crime, whether guilty or innocent, they must stand and face their accusers and this they will, sooner or later, be forced to do.

The editors of the Kentuckian, a paper published at London, make an unfair and an untruthful attack on our much beloved friend and public benefactor, Hon. James B. McCreary, in their last week's issue. It is a pity that these 2x4 editors have reached this conclusion in regard to Kentuck's leading democrat, McCreary for thirty years has been an honor to the state and nation, filling every position he has ever held with exceptional credit to himself and constituency. While Kentucky's chief Executive he won the name of model governor. Six times did the people of this district send him to congress, and each day they could point to him with pride as a representative; each year he advocates on the stump and from his purse the principles of the democratic party. He was the friend and champion of William J. Bryan; he helped to frame the last Kentucky Democratic Platform and was a close adviser and personal friend of Gov. William Goebel. During all of his long service as a public servant, he has been an honor to Kentucky, and the people realizing that fact honored him again on yesterday by making him a delegate-at-large from this state to the Kansas City convention. He will be Deboe's successor in the United States senate and will be a fit successor to Clay, Beck, Carlisle and Lindsey. The editors of Kentuckian should take a heavy dose of salts; a good bath and get in a good humor; quit attacking good men and able statesmen who have worked so hard for their own party, and try harder to publish a newsy local paper and thereby have three square meals a day and apple pie for Sunday.

In the electoral college the vote of Kentucky should be cast for the matchless-Bryan of the West, the heroic champion of the people's cause. We must elect a democratic Governor and the democratic candidate for Judge in the Seventh appellate district should win. To do all of these, we must act with prudence, discretion and wisdom. We must take in consideration the locality and the general fitness of the man in selecting our candidate for Governor, because the success of Bryan and the Appellate Judge depend largely upon the selection of our candidate for Governor. The Hon. James D. Black is the man who can carry the state for Bryan, can elect Judge Hazelrigg, Judge Benton or Judge Sampson, Appellate Judge, and at the same time make himself Governor of this great Commonwealth. Black is the equal of Yerkes on the stump; in fact he can strike him hip and thigh. He is more eloquent than Yerkes; he is more popular in eastern Kentucky than Yerkes; he has as much wealth as Yerkes; he is as clean and polished a man as Yerkes; he has done more for the democratic party than Yerkes has for the republican party. To our minds he is the ideal candidate for Governor. Beckham, whether he runs or doesn't run for Governor, has a "cinch" on the place to which he was originally intended by William Goebel. He should be satisfied and should not ask for the nomination next month from the hands of the Democrats. Make Black the nominee and Kentucky will go Democratic, the electoral vote will be cast for Bryan and the Court of Appeals will remain democratic.

The renomination of Hon. G. G. Gilbert at Harrodsburg by the committee was a worthy tribute to our able representative whose record we are justly proud of. And the people of this district will see to it by their votes that he will be returned to that seat he has filled so acceptably for the last two years. He deserves it and should have it.

POSSUM HOLLER. (Level Green.)

We have no news. Mr. Editor, is it a fact that the word news was originally formed by putting the initial letters of north, east, west and south into a word and making it mean "a gathering up of incidents, &c., from the four quarters of the earth?"

Our place is now connected with Eubanks and the rest of Mankind, by telephone. We will soon be in direct communication with Mt. Vernon. Also, as the poles are now being placed along the line. Won't it make Possum Holler boom and feel big of itself?

Last Thursday's rain south of us did immense damage to farms and farm products—washing some fields as deep as plowed, nearly all over. Corn is growing faster than ever known, I went to the field yesterday where Joe and Tom were plowing and hoing a new sort of corn which I had received from Brazil and planted in a very rich bottom highly fertilized, I could almost see the corn growing; so when we started for dinner I set a ten-foot pole by a fine hill in order to see how much it would grow in the two hours the boys would be absent, and by jing what do you think! the corn had tasseled and silked and there was some short blades and a "right smart" shoot on the pole when they returned.

Our oats seem to be advancing backwards, but we have an exuberant (what does that word mean) crop of tater bugs, and I have an old possum setting a big hickory stump (hollow of course) on nine young ones. I tell you they make a real nest full,

Our bees are rich, and I keep them well robbed and we milk four good cows, so you can readily see that my meat is, milk and honey.

Our wheat has some smut and the fly has injured some of it. Now I will bet the biggest possum I catch next winter, that there is not a lawyer nor a politician in Rockcastle county that can tell what makes smut in the wheat. The fly was brought here by the Hessian soldiery that surrendered near this place in 1776. The tater bug just naturally grows on the tater. Betsey and me had a fine large mess of new peas, newtaters, beets and ingerons Sunday.

Betsy and me each have a garden and we are striving to excel one another. Competition is the life of business.

I am not able to work hard so, I put in most of my time helping the town pupil. I have been thinking of getting a divorce from work altogether, some of my neighbors has and they have much less worry and troubles than I do. We had ought to work much in this life no how, Mr. Editor.

General Burton an old nabor, after trying the telephone and asking John Riddle about coffee, &c., declares that it is a reality, tho' he never believed it till now. Very hard to get some pupil to believe unless tha can see and handle like Thomas or the Scripper. We have sum pupil who say tha is no h—l just simply from the fact tha have had no experience there. Now I always did believe that much, and that is a very populous place tho' by no means a good farming country, like some parts ov Oklahoma—too dry. If my health would ever get well I am satisfied that I would feel better.

We are all for Black in Possum Holler for Governor and I tell you we cut a big notch on the election stick.

Very truly,
BUCK VARNON.

The Mt. Vernon special correspondent of last Friday's Interior Journal goes out of the way to say that the unusually small crowd at church on the previous Sunday, was due to the fact that a party of young folks went to Sigman's spring for a picnic, and that the church people were very much surprised "that picnics were alright for the week but hardly the proper thing for the Lord's day: If we had the beautiful christianity that some people have we could go to Sigman's spring every Sunday, and yet be saved, and we know that if the I. J.'s correspondent had been favored with an invitation to join that picnic party, it would have been quite the proper thing, and the very place to have worshipped, and the most conducive to christianity. Then no one would have been astonished.

FATAL mistakes are made by those who do not heed the earlier symptoms of kidney or bladder trouble that often end in Bright's disease or diabetes. WOULD NOT SMEEFER SO AGAIN FOR FIFTY TIMES ITS PRICE.

I awoke last night with severe pains in my stomach. I never felt so badly in all my life. When I came down to work this morning felt so weak I could hardly work. Went to Miller & McCurdy's drug store and they recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It worked like magic and one dose fixed me all right. It certainly is the finest thing I ever used for stomach trouble. I shall not be without it in my home hereafter, for I should not care to endure the sufferings of last night again for fifty times its price.—G. H. WILSON, Liveryman, Burgettstown, Washington Co., Pa. This remedy is for sale by Theo Wesley, Mt Vernon, Ky.
